

STUDENT JOB POSITION IN THE AREA OF JUDICIAL TRAINING AND EU LAW

As part of an online training project managed by ICF SA Belgium and EIPA on behalf of the European Commission, we are looking for law students who are native speakers from different EU Member States, with strong English skills.

This is a remunerated task, taking place remotely, and which requires a thorough understanding of both national and EU law. The task will consist of proofreading a series of short online modules, which will have been translated from English into different European languages using an AI online translation tool.

REQUIREMENTS

- Native speaker of one of the following languages: Bulgarian, Czech, Danish, Dutch, Estonian, Finnish, French, German, Greek, Hungarian, Irish, Italian, Latvian, Lithuanian, Maltese, Polish, Portuguese, Romanian, Slovak, Slovenia, Slovene, Spanish and Swedish.
- Excellent command of the English language.
- Student of law, preferably at master's or PhD level, covering EU criminal and civil law, as well as EU fundamental rights
- Availability to work remotely, having access to a laptop and proficiency in using online tools such as Microsoft Suite for a total of 5 days during August for the first batch of 10 e-Capsules (remunerated at 120 EUR per day). Students will be required to attend a 2-3 hour training / briefing session before the proofreading mission in August. The date will be confirmed at a later stage.
- Additional batches of e-Capsules will follow every 2 months.
